SAND FILTERS

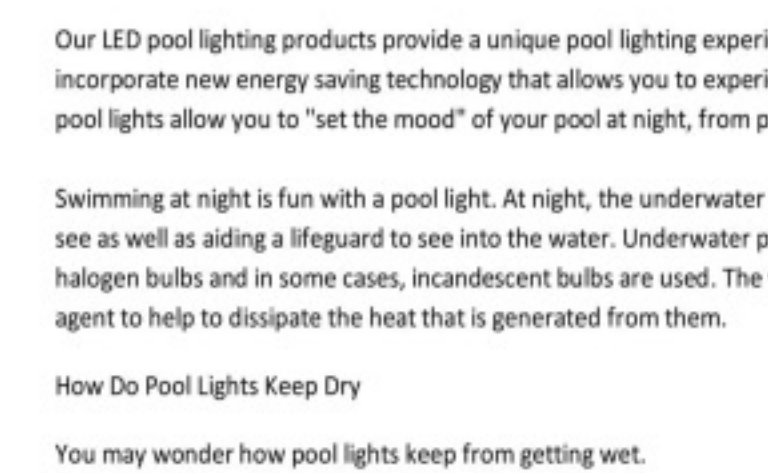

The filters in this system are high-rate sand filters. Sand filters consist of a large tank, made of fiberglass, concrete or metal, containing a thick bed of special-grade sand, which has a square shape.

During filtering operation, dirty water from the pool comes in through the filter's inlet pipe, which leads to the water distribution head inside the tank. While gravity pulls the water down through the sand, the tiny sand particles catch any dirt and debris. At the bottom of the tank, the filtered water flows through the pick-up unit and out the outlet pipe.

LIGHTS

Our LED pool lighting products provide a unique pool lighting experience. The AQUA DROPS Color Logic LED lights incorporate new energy saving technology that allows you to experience your pool night while saving money. LED pool lights allow you to "set the mood" of your pool at night, from party to peaceful!

Swimming at night is fun with a pool light. At night, the underwater lights will help someone who is swimming to see as well as aiding a lifeguard to see into the water. Underwater pool lights are typically made with the use of halogen bulbs and in some cases, incandescent bulbs are used. The water around the light fixtures acts as a cooling agent to help to dissipate the heat that is generated from them.

How Do Pool Lights Keep Dry

You may wonder how pool lights keep from getting wet.

Pool lights are tightly sealed and designed to keep dry.

The glass is very thick for extra protection. It is held in the pool by a strong clip or screw.

If the bulb needs changed, it can be pulled above water and replaced

MULTIPOINT VALVE

There are three major types of pool filtering system: cartridge, sand, and diatomaceous earth (DE). Sand and DE filters use a multipoint valve primarily to help clean or back flush the filter media. Cartridge filters do not have multipoint valves. These filters are cleaned by removing the cartridge and spraying it with a garden hose. A typical multipoint valve has 7 settings: filter, backwash, rinse, and waste, closed, recalcitate, and winter. This guide explains the function of these setting and shows how they circulate water in a typical sand filter. The operation of a DE multipoint valve is very similar.
